

Ontawa, Week by Week

Grave Warning
In the midst of the current wave of extreme optimism about the possible length of this World War II, it is most urgent that the people throughout this country should digest and heed the caution against the possible "dangerous events of the near future" in this war as disclosed in some of the fitting descriptions made now in Parliament by Canada's Prime Minister Mackenzie King, who returned recently from his tour of the United States and who had engaged in long meetings with the leaders of the history-in-the-making in London. "As a result of what I have seen and heard," he said in part to an extremely silent and attentive audience in Parliament, "I feel much reassured. I have felt at any time as to the certainty of ultimate victory." But at a later point during his talk in a tense atmosphere, the Canadian Prime Minister added these significant words, "I believe that it is going to be longer than perhaps most of us can imagine."

Disclosure in Advance

In order to avoid any possible tendency on the part of buyers and builders of much needed housing throughout Canada to delay until the legislation would be made, the Government has already disclosed in advance several points of its housing legislation to solve this urgent problem. These have revealed an immediate decrease in interest rates to 44 per cent on new loans under the National Housing Act, an increase of $1,000 in financing of new housing, extension of loans over longer periods of 20 or 30 years at a later date, a continuation of the housing conversion measure in certain municipalities, more use of the construction of low-cost projects where 90 per cent of the capital is provided by the Government and 10 per cent by private groups, and a programme of Wartime Housing Limited to build houses for dependents of members of the armed services.

No Surprise

In view of the report that Lord Beaverbrook, Britain's Lord Privy Seal, had rejected the Canadian plan for post-war civil aviation, it must be made clear now that the Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Munitions and Supply, had pointed out some time ago in the House of Commons that he would be surprised if Canada's proposals as a basis for international control of post-war civil aviation were accepted without changes.

Wages Increase

It will be interesting for the man-in-the-street in Canada to learn that, according to a statement in Parliament, wage increases in this country totalling $150,000,000 a year have been approved under the conditions of the wage-control regulations; and the wage-control level in this nation has reached an all-time high.

Heated Dispute

The trip overseas of four Canadian women to study the women's organizations has been raised in the House of Commons, and it has brought forth quite a debate, with these women being Mrs. Gordon Konantz, of Winnipeg; Miss Agathe Dore, of Montreal; Mrs. Jules Lane, Toronto; and Miss Helen Roberts, of Ottawa. Information was sought how these women were covered their payment, and so forth.

BRIDAL SHOWER FOR MISS IRENE MARSHALL

At the Queen's Hotel on Saturday, June 10, a shower was held in honor of Miss Irene N. Marshall, who is shortly to become the bride of Mr. George J. Mackay. A large crowd filled the dining-room, and many beautiful and useful gifts were received.

Mrs. Bob Mills provided an entertaining programme, after giving the opening speech, and asking Miss Marshall to accept the tokens of esteem from her many friends.

Miss Marshall, with the help of her two friends, Miss Mary Fonger and Miss Phyllis Long, opened the gifts and passed them round for all to see.

A duet was sung by the Wilson sisters, violin solo by Miss Ruth Craig, and piano solo by the Marshall sisters.

A delicious lunch was then served by the 25 hostesses, consisting of ham, turkey, chicken, pink and white with Eggs à la Reine, and was in charge of Mrs. C. Lees and Mrs. R. Morrison.

Hog Markings

Hog markings in Canada during the first three months of the year totalled 2,821,000 hogs, an increase of 74 per cent over the 1,623,000 hogs marketed in the same period last year.

At the same time, the increase was 50 per cent, in Saskatchewan 136 per cent, in Alberta 60 per cent, and in British Columbia 12 per cent.

However, in reply the Government's spokesman said that these four women were chosen to go overseas, not as individuals representing any particular body but as representatives of the Department of National War Services, with each one of these women having been highly recommended.

Cost of Wheat

Operations

Wheat operations of the Canadian Wheat Board from the time of its inception, July 31st, 1943, have involved a cost of $82,248,560; and operating surpluses have been $58,449,282. This information was supplied to Parliament by the Minister of Trade and Commerce, Hon. Jas. McInnis.

Cost of Living Rise

In regard to the latest report of a rise in the cost of living index in this country from 119.0 to 119.1 during a period of a single month, it must be stated that information in Ottawa has been that the price and wage control policy will not be examined again by the Government unless or until this index will involve an increase of more than three per cent, which will remain for at least two straight months.

Canadians are Saving

While it is true that savings deposits in Canada's chartered banks usually move downward temporarily after a Victory Loan campaign (and this will appear probably when the next official figures will be released), yet the latest report in Ottawa has revealed that a new all-time mark has been made by the people of Canada in saving their money, since such savings deposits have amounted to no less than $2,225,400,000 in the banks, with this refuting some of the stories circulating throughout this country that Canadians are not saving their money during this wartime "boom" and that they are spending rather too freely.

Don't Neglect Vegetable Crops

Landbridge Experiment Station, Western Canada

Many farmers in certain areas of the west have become well established in commercial vegetable production during the last few years. Vegetable seed production is also becoming prominent in some localities. The impetus given these industries by wartime shortages and the essential nature of vegetable production has been responsible to a large degree for the increased development. Added facilities have also been provided for the processing of these crops. About 92 per cent of the vegetable production is now being produced in the west.

A ready market for large quantities of vegetable products has been responsible to a large degree for the increased development. Added facilities have also been provided for the processing of these crops. About 92 per cent of the vegetable production is now being produced in the west.

Despite these aids to vegetable growers, which exist at present, many producers have failed to take full advantage of their opportunities. One of the greatest obstacles that hinder the expansion of vegetable production on a permanent and profitable basis is the fact that so many growers fail to realize the importance and value of the soil.

Too many are prone, in time when labour, water, and fertilizer are scarce, to neglect their small plantings of special crops and give too much of their time and effort to the larger fields. In most cases this is a mistake, as so many of well-cared-for vegetable in soil in net return to the grower as much as many acres of a grain crop. It is not easy, therefore, to stress too much the importance of giving commercial vegetable or small fruits first attention.

Only by being able to supply a steady flow of high quality goods on the West coast for itself a reputation for its produce which will provide them with a ready market both in wartime and in peace time. This can only be accomplished when the grower realizes the value of these crops and gives them the care and treatment which they rightly deserve. No other crop requires so readily or profitably to good cultural care and land fertility practices.

NO LATE CHICKS

Farmers who have not yet obtained their chick requirements and living it will want to buy chicks as advised by the Poultry Commissioner, C. W. Trevel, to pick them up at one of the hatcheries or order them without delay. Practically all of the Approved Commercial Hatcheries in the Western Province will be closing down about June 20th.

Approved hatcheries for 1944 showed a large increase in hatching capacity. Hatching percentages have been higher this year than usual, resulting in many more chicks. Almost everyone was able to obtain their chicks early and those who want later chicks can get them by the middle of June. July chicks were never profitable, and this year will not be an exception.

Most of the hatcheries are well looked to the middle of June, 1944. There will be only small supplies available for over the counter sales, so if you have not already ordered your chicks you are advised to act quickly.

"Time Bombs"

Democracy, of course, means freedom—both freedom with responsibility.

If more of us took God on board as pilot we would not get lost in so much foggy thinking.

Millions Right and millions die. Think, not of all this time. We must build a decent world. That starts with you like us.

If mindful of the past, and faithful in the present, nobody need ever be fearful of the future.

It will take sand and grit—not soft soap—to clean up the mess we're in.

Searle Precipitation Report

No. 1 (Compiled from the records of 951 Government and Semi-Station Gauges). Records up to and including June 5th.

Moisture Conditions

During the past week there has been a still further improvement in the precipitation situation. The total moisture condition for the province as a whole is now 128 per cent of normal, compared with 125 per cent a week ago and 122 per cent at this time a year ago.

The total moisture for the province of Alberta is now 128 per cent of normal, compared with 125 per cent a week ago and 122 per cent at this time a year ago. For Saskatchewan the similar moisture condition is now 100.4 per cent of normal, compared with 99.7 per cent a week ago and 97.7 per cent at this time a year ago. For Manitoba the condition is now 105.5 per cent of normal, compared with 102.5 per cent a week ago and 117.5 per cent at this time a year ago.

In Alberta the moisture condition in all crop districts is near-normal, normal or better than normal, with the exception of Crop District No. 8, which is still badly deficient. In Saskatchewan there has been a decided improvement during the past week in the moisture condition with the exception of Crop District No. 4, which is still considerably below normal and Crop District No. 7, which is slightly less than normal. In Manitoba the heavy rains of the past week have still further improved the moisture condition. All Crop Districts have enjoyed better than normal rainfall, with the exception of Crop Districts 14 and 15, where the moisture condition is normal.

Repairing Tanks

Enlistment Office of British Tank Corps in This Work

A new test cut in the tank is required to inspect the 13,000 parts of a tank in the available record achieved by Britain's "tank boys" in recent months. According to a report from overseas, inspection time has been reduced from five days to three.

When a worn-out vehicle tank is brought into the shops for reconstruction, tank girls, as they are known, set to work, checking every fitting as it is fitted to the hull or turret. When the tank is ready for a field test, a tank girl goes along as pilot and checker. In the city she guides the driver through traffic, shouting directions into the "intercom" telephone. On country roads she stands in the turret, relating it to firing, and records the effects of the guns.

British girls train for their job at government schools for four years. There they learn general engineering in machine shops, fitting shops and drawing offices.

CANNOT BE BLAMED

Much is said from time to time as to the quality of the British soldier. It is the quality of the British soldier that is being tested. But, says the Ottawa Citizen, in all fairness, has it ever been known to starve a tank first? And what can be said of the most recently accepted cigarette? Or Peps's pipe?

Meet After Long Absence

—Canadian Army Photo

A day-long vigil at the dockside was rendered an Eastern Canadian port, when a son they hadn't seen for one year was brought to the hospital ship, Lady Nelson, and greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Williams, 75-year-old residents of Springfield, N.B. The son, Pte. Thomas Williams, of Winnipeg, is pictured embracing his aged mother, while his father looks on proudly. Pte. Williams was invalided home from England after serving for several years. He fought in the First Great War. The family reunion nearly failed to materialize when Mrs. Williams' failing eyesight misled the stretcher carrier who was to take him to the hospital train. He was loaded aboard before the officials found the aged couple still waiting. They met their son there.

Experiment Proves Hatching Eggs

Can Be Sent By Plane

People in complete countries will meet poultry during reconstruction, and if hatching eggs are not to be done, they will hatch after the war. The University of Maryland and American Airlines recently flew 150 eggs from Washington to Los Angeles and back, and put them into incubation, with an equal number that had not been flown, as check. Result—137 chicks from the 150 eggs that flew, and 142 from those sent as a check. Conclusion: Hatching eggs can be flown to Europe—Brendon, Brn.

Prize Prizesmen Said To Have

More Land Sown Than

"More wheat this year" was indicated by crop correspondents reporting to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics on the 1944 crop plans of Canadian farmers.

An increase of more than 4,000,000 acres in the area to be seeded to wheat in 1944 as compared with 1943 is indicated. This increase takes place mainly in the three Prairie Provinces.

STILL EXPANDING

Australian aircraft industry is still expanding, with at least two plants in England, turning out planes over to the Royal Australian Air Force. The Federal Department of Aircraft Production, which is manufacturing Beaufort bombers, delivered its 500th plane as long ago as last November.

A 14-inch cube of gold weighs a ton.

Poultry Business

Should Be Conducted On A Sound Business Basis

What is needed in the poultry industry states the Dominion Department of Agriculture, is for more people to look at the industry in a business way and examine critically every item of cost connected with maintained quality and efficient production. For example, preventable losses in young chicks and growing stock amount to a very large sum every year. The purchase of baby chicks is an investment, and it is sound business on the part of the breeder to protect that investment. This can be done best by purchasing good stock; by having clean and adequate housing; suitable brooding equipment; proper feeding; and practicing good care and management.

RED WITH POPPIES

Spring brought red poppies into full bloom in Italy. Allied soldiers scattered through these fields with blood and also red with poppies. Those red poppies are found only there. They have them in England, too. They do not grow high, only about six inches above the ground. The flowers are not large, either, only about an inch or so in diameter.

English Shipments Start Operate A War-Essential Line

Betty Carstairs, English speedster, has given us her tiny island kingdom in the Bahamas to operate a war-essential fleet of four cargo boats with her own interesting yacht, the Santa Fe, as the flagship.

The girl who once drove a speedboat for the U.S. Navy and has often cruised down the coast of Florida, has now taken over the Santa Fe, which she has fitted out with a cargo-carrying capacity of 1,000 tons, and has taken over the Santa Fe, which she has fitted out with a cargo-carrying capacity of 1,000 tons, and has taken over the Santa Fe, which she has fitted out with a cargo-carrying capacity of 1,000 tons.

Japanese Fighters Put No Value

The Japanese code of warfare is Oriental. Their history and the history of every Oriental country, the tales they tell their children, the plays in their theatres deal with the utter ruthlessness of their warriors. The story of the 47 Ronin, the foundation of modern Japanese thought, leaves no room for doubt as to what value the Japanese, or any Oriental people, place upon human life, their own as well as any enemy's.
